QUINTA MAZATLAN

The urban sanctuary works to enrich people's lives by sharing knowledge about birds, plants and environmental stewardship in South Texas.

Raptors in Flight Exhibit

You're invited to sponsor a permanent indoor exhibit of thirteen hand-carved and painted "Raptors in Flight" hanging from the vaulted ceiling of the new Environmental Education Building.

THE GOAL

The exhibit will feature thirteen life-sized hand-carved and painted models. The 13 species of predator birds are the most prominent birds seen in the valley. Not only are birds great animals for children and adults to observe and learn about, but they also fascinate kids in a way that other animals can't: birds can fly. Birds teach kids different things such as: Environmental responsibility, diversity, geography, food chain and flight.

THE AUDIENCE

From the 4 year-old to the avid bird watcher, all ages will be fascinated by these beautiful and lifelike carvings. You'll hear and see children exclaiming, 'Wow!' or 'Neat!' or 'Cool!' The exhibit will empower students and adults to care for their environment, make informed decisions, and take responsible action.
